

from 1965 to 1969. For the school year 1968-1969 I developed and found the funds for a multi-disciplinary course called "Design of Alternative Futures". The course was inspired by Buckminster Fuller.

In 1969 I graduated with a Master of Architecture degree, having earned my Bachelor of Architecture degree in 1967.

My principal hobby is wildlife photography, which ties in with my general concern for the environment (I have driven the same car for 29 years, waiting patiently for the day electric or hydrogen powered cars become affordable).

I can work with you in a variety of ways, from carrying the ball almost completely to just doing the drawing work while you do the leg-work.

I look forward to working with you.

A handwritten signature in cursive script that reads "Jan Dege". The signature is written in black ink and is positioned to the left of the date.
